Your gift makes a personal difference.

annual fund 2011

You can help open doors to the future at North Shore Community College.
Real opportunities for students today

Thanks to the generosity of our donors, the NSCC Foundation is able to award scholarships to deserving students every year. Since its inception, the Foundation has provided over $2 million in scholarships to more than 2700 students.

Please support NSCC student scholarships and help students continue to reach their academic goals.

Training and technology for the leaders of tomorrow

NSCC is a major resource for workforce development for North Shore hospitals, community health centers, nursing, homecare programs and private practices.

NSCC students pursuing careers in healthcare will soon be educated and trained in NSCC’s new Health Professions & Student Services Building. Each health discipline will have its own dedicated practice lab and teaching space and will share hands-on simulation suites and control rooms. The new building is the only zero net energy project underway in the Commonwealth and will meet the standards of a Leadership in Energy & Environmental Design (LEED) Gold certification.

See the future at NSCC. Visit www.northshore.edu/giving for renderings of NSCC’s new LEED Gold certified building.

Todd Mover, NSCC Class of 2008, is now a respiratory therapist at Beverly Hospital and an instructor in NSCC’s Respiratory Care degree program. Todd is also a past recipient of the James E. Wasco Scholarship.
Did you know?

15,000 attend NSCC annually.

More than 87% of NSCC's 32,000 graduates live and work on the North Shore—an important segment of the region's economy.

Since opening its doors in 1965, more than 220,000 North Shore residents have taken courses at NSCC.

Three distinct locations in Lynn, Danvers and Beverly serve regionally diverse student populations.

96% of NSCC graduates are employed.

55% of students receive financial aid.

60% of all jobs in Massachusetts will require an associate degree by 2012.

The future of the community

Annually, 25% of Lynn high school graduates enroll at NSCC and each semester more than 500 Lynn-area residents enroll in English as a Second Language classes.

NSCC is an active supporter of the City of Lynn's public schools, community organizations, and civic engagement projects.

By supporting NSCC's Lynn Initiative you will be helping Lynn youth and adults continue to have access to pathway programs leading to higher education and expansion of NSCC's vibrant Lynn campus.
NSCC’s new Health Professions & Student Services Building will help meet the demand for skilled healthcare workers on the North Shore. The building is also LEED Gold Certified by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for its energy efficiency.
