Hans Kisse was created in 1984 as a kitchen commissary for Roche Brothers Supermarkets. The facility now has substantially expanded and prepares a variety of salads and other prepared foods for supermarkets and other food service facilities in one of the most modern, state of the art facilities.

An intern at Hans Kisse will be involved with the extensive variety of products from development to quality assurance to production, packaging, storage and distribution.

Among the duties performed will be raw material inspection, receiving, basic production line checks (i.e. time and temperature), finished product inspection, labeling requirements, USDA compliance, laboratory analysis (including fat analysis, total acidity, pH, viscosity), microbiology, sensory evaluation, shelf life studies, HACCP requirements, cleaning and sanitizing.
